

BAILEY SAYS WILSON PROHIBITION VETO IS QUITE UNANSWERABLE

Former Senator Believes With President That Use of War as Excuse for Action Against Liquor Business Is Not Proper ... Considers That the Emergency Is Past.

Washington, October 30.—Former Senator Bailey, in a statement to the Washington Post of yesterday, declares that President Wilson's objection as stated in the veto message of the wartime prohibition code is unanswerable. The senator recites his views upon the situation as follows:

"The president's objection to the bill enforcing wartime prohibition is absolutely unanswerable. According to every rule of political morality, a law enacted to serve a particular emergency should be repealed when that emergency has passed, and the fact that congress now insists upon an enforcement of the wartime prohibition law must convince every thoughtful man that the war with Germany was the pretext, and not the reason, for the enactment of that law.

"We did not, however, need this new evidence to convince us that this special law was not enacted for the purpose of helping us to win the war with Germany, since it was passed ten days after the armistice was signed, and no sensible man could believe that this or any other measure was necessary to win the war against Germany after Germany had signed an armistice, the terms of which rendered it utterly impossible for her to resume hostilities.

Hypocrisy Is Apparent.

"Moreover, the hypocrisy of that enactment becomes still more apparent when we remember that it prohibited the manufacture and sale of liquor in this country, where no battles were to be fought, though we were sending our soldiers to fight battles in the Old World, where the sale of liquors was not prohibited. The truth, and the whole truth, is that congress seized upon the war as a mere pretext to do what its dullest members understood it could not do except upon that pretext.

"I have never believed that the wartime prohibition act was constitutional, and I do not believe that the supreme court of the United States will ever hold that it is. No one claims that congress has any express power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor in the several states, and it can exercise that power only, if at all, in executing some power which has been expressly granted by the constitution.

"The only expressly granted power from which congress could have derived the power to pass the wartime prohibition law was the power to declare war, which carried with it the further power to pass all laws necessary and proper to the successful prosecution of that war. If it were necessary to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquors in order to win the war, then congress could constitutionally enact the wartime prohibition laws, but if it was not necessary to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquors in order to win the war, then congress

EDUCATION DEFINED.

Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president of Western Reserve university, recently defined "education."

"Education is the enlargement and enrichment of the mind," he said. "Training is making the mind a more effective tool. Education is giving the mind a cubical relation, breadth, height and depth. Training is grinding the mind to a keen-cutting edge. Education consists in giving to the mind, vision, prevision."

This distinction is important. A good many of us speak of education when we mean training, and of training when we mean education.

The writer knows a trained man whose mind is as sharp as a razor's edge. He holds down a job which pays him $15,000 a year. Yet he is uneducated, if we use the word in its pure sense as defined by Dr. Thwing.

We also know a man who is educated to the last degree. But his mind is as blunt as a penknife that has been used to open a can of beans.

This educated man can talk entertainingly about almost everything under the sun. He knows the history of every religion; he is familiar with the fundamentals of every science; he is an intelligent critic of art; he has a grasp on every philosophy; he can trace the history and development of humankind from prehistoric times to current events.

POSTAGE SALES SHOW GAIN FOR MONTH AS AGAINST LAST YEAR

Increase Considered to Be Unusual Under Situation.

The postage sales for the month of October shows a substantial gain over the sales for the corresponding month of last year, according to Postmaster W. D. Lawrence. The sales amount to about $2500 now as against $2300 for the same month last year. The gain in business is seen to be even larger when it is taken into consideration that last year the 3-cent postage rate was in effect, whereas the first class postage rate is now two cents. This, when considered, means that the postoffice is now getting in about $800 more per month than it was getting last year at the same time.

While the three cent rate was in effect the post office department got the benefit of the two cents as before, the other cent being turned over to the treasury department. In this way the treasury received about seventeen per cent of the receipts at the local office in October, 1918.

The showing for the present month is considered remarkable by Mr. Lawrence, in view of the adverse crop conditions which are usually reflected at once in postal receipts. In fact, he said, during August and September there was a falling off, but he anticipated that the last quarter of 1919 will show a heavy gain.

ELIMINATING CREDIT ESTIMATED TO LOWER H. C. L. 15 PER CENT

Michigan Dealers Believe Cash-and-Carry Is Solution.

Calumet, Mich., October 30.—The elimination of the credit system and delivery charges would reduce the cost of living by fifteen per cent, according to retail merchants who testified in the living test inquiry conducted by Prosecuting Attorney Lucas of Houghton county. Two witnesses, representing two of the largest mercantile establishments in the district, testified that a cash system and a "carry-your-own" plan would be a body blow to rising household expenses and they suggested these systems as the only remedy for present conditions.

It is probable testimony relative to the credit and delivery systems will be submitted to Attorney General Broesback of Michigan and legislation concerning these phases of the mercantile business will be urged by the prosecuting attorney.

ARRESTS TO COME SOON.

Washington, October 30.—Many new arrests in a number of states for the violation of food and fuel control laws are expected soon by the department of justice.

Not Necessary to Win War.

"I do not believe that it was necessary to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor in the several states in order to win the war, and any stage of it, and I do not see how any man can say that any such law was necessary to win the war, after the war, in fact, had been won, as it had been when the armistice was signed. If a war necessity existed when the act was passed, and it was therefore constitutional at that time, the president's official statement that such necessity exists no longer, if accepted as true, renders the law inoperative hereafter.

"There is one aspect of this matter which many leading prohibitionists have overlooked, and I warn them that it will return to plague them.

"Some of the men to whom I now refer are very earnestly defending the right of private property; and well they may do so in these days when that right is denied by vastly a larger number of men in this country than is commonly supposed. Unfortunately, however, many of these national prohibitionists seem to care nothing about the right of private property except for their private right to their own property.

Question of Property.

"They forget that today there are hundreds of millions of dollars invested in whiskeys, wines and beers, which it was perfectly lawful for those who own them to sell when they bought them for the purpose of selling them. To deprive those owners of the right to sell that liquor, wine or beer will unquestionably and utterly destroy, as to every one who is not willing to violate the law, the private right to that vast amount of property.

"Conceding that congress might do that, if it were necessary in order to win the war, no man can defend the doing of it when every man knows that it is not necessary to do it in order to win the war, because the war has already been won.

"It is well worth our while to remember that we can not ask to have men to respect our rights to our property when we deliberately destroy their right to their property."

ACTIVE CAMPAIGNING FOR RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS SUNDAY

Directors for All Parts of County Chosen to Carry on Work of Seeing Everyone in His Home ... Ambitious Program Planned for Local Branch in Many Lines.

Active campaigning for the third Red Cross roll call in Brazos county will begin Sunday, October 2. A house to house campaign, in which every resident of Brazos county, men, women and children will be given the opportunity of enrolling in this great work, will inaugurate the roll call.

Chas. B. Hudson, director of the roll call, has selected the following directors for the roll call in the Brazos county communities:

College Station, Mrs. J. C. Nagle. Steep Hollow, Mrs. I. M. Cook. Harvey, Mrs. E. U. Peters. Coleview, Miss Sunshine Cole. Steele Store and Stone City, Charlie DeGalia.

Reliance, Miss Essie Shealey. Wellborn, Mrs. George F. Lee. Millican, Mrs. J. D. Battle. Tabor, Miss Mary Locke. Prospect, Miss Lena Beale. Macy, Mrs. G. A. Nash. Kurten, Mrs. M. B. Easters. Edge, Mrs. T. W. Beard. Blanton School district, R. C. Rudasill.

Goodson School district, Miss Willie Brazos county colored people, Dr. A. E. Thompson.

Bohemians of Brazos county, Miss Julia Parezik.

A comprehensive program of service for the ensuing year has been mapped out by the local Red Cross auxiliary and will be followed religiously. Not only does this work include nurse service, home service, and other such objectives or missions, but there is a big element of instruction in the program. Training in the prevention of accidents, training in first aid when accidents do happen, the education of the public and the arousing of public opinion to the value of "safety first" and prevention of diseases are some of the things covered in this year's program.

In order to carry out such an ambitious program of work, the co-operation of every man, woman and child in the county is essential. A strenuous campaign for the enrollment of Bohemians and Italians will be carried on by leaders from these two nationalities. The colored people also will have a chairman who will direct the enrollment of members of that race in the great Red Cross, which, by the way, has enjoyed the unstinted and enthusiastic co-operation of the colored people in every drive.

The organization calls for a roll call chairman in each neighborhood. This chairman appoints various workers, divides their neighborhood into districts, and sees to it that every individual is extended an opportunity to join. This chairman also receives reports from all of the neighborhood workers and makes a consolidated report to the county chairman.

An advertising campaign which includes the co-operation of the Daily Eagle; decorations in the show windows and public places, bulletins and pamphlets will be inaugurated immediately to the end that the county may be made thoroughly familiar as to the plans and purposes of the Red Cross and the consequent needs in a financial sense and in the sense of individual responsibility and co-operation.

HELP FIND BAGGAGE.

On the government docks at Hoboken, N. J., are 150,000 pieces of lost baggage, consisting of 20,004 trunk lockers, 15,000 bed rolls, 5000 suit cases and 110,000 baggage bags. This baggage belongs to the members of the A. E. F. and much of it is marked with names only and it is impossible to forward these articles to the owners on account of insufficient address. The Home Service section of the American Red Cross, office in First National Bank building, telephone 606, will assist any soldier who wants to apply for any of this baggage.

DONT LIKE NEW RATES.

Yorktown, October 30. — DeWitt camp No. 106, W. O. W., Monday evening elected two delegates to the Waco convention October 30. It protested against the enforcement of the new rates effective in January, 1920. The delegates are Mayor F. W. Heinrich and George Wanier.

GOVERNOR ON THE JOB.

McAlester, Ok., October 30.—"We'll see who's running this old U. S. A.," Governor J. B. A. Robertson declared here in suddenly adjourning the conference of miners, operators and the public, which had met at his call. "The coal mines of Oklahoma will be operated," the governor tersely declared as the conference came to an end. "I made that statement yesterday, and I meant it." Governor Robertson adjourned the conference after the miners' representatives had declared the men would abide by the order to strike November 1.

GERMANS ANXIOUS TO GET OUT OF COUNTRY TO ANY PLACE ELSE

Main Thing is to Be Allowed to Escape Conditions at Home.

Berlin, October 30.—The newly instituted National Emigration bureau is being bombarded these days by Germans who want to get out of Germany—to any old country in many cases, anywhere except Germany. The great majority express a desire to go to America. The bulk of the large crowd that constantly throngs the quarters of the emigration bureau consists chiefly of industrial workers who can find no sufficient employment here in Germany.

The countries to which Germans can emigrate at present include Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Patagonia. North America is as yet barred and Mexico, because of the unfavorable political conditions, is counted as undesirable.

FIVE TAKE TESTS AS CENSUS ENUMERATORS FOR COUNT OF 1920

Others Expected to Report This Afternoon for Examination.

Five young men took the examination for places as federal census enumerators this morning at the postoffice building, Miss Dorothy Smith of Hillsboro, being here as special examiner from the office of the supervisor of census for this district.

Others are expected to report for examination this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and, if it should prove necessary, Miss Smith said this morning, she is willing to stay over until Friday in order to enable others to qualify. According to her information about fifteen candidates have signified their intention of applying for places as enumerators.

The examination is said not to be difficult for a person with ordinary educational advantages. The difficulty in obtaining suitable persons for enumeration is due to the very short time given the supervisors, it is said, to organize their forces.

Those who took the examination this morning were: J. C. Cloud, Route 6; A. K. Brown, Bryan; T. C. Nunn, Jr., Bryan; Noah Cole, Route 3, and John M. Moore, Tabor.

Gleissner at the residence this afternoon at 2 p. m., after which the body is to be taken to Houston for burial. Mrs. Hanus has no relatives here other than her husband, but several of her children by a former marriage live in Houston. She was a member of the Catholic church.

According to a Prague dispatch, Battik is said to have told the police that he was commissioned by Kun to sell the jewels in the United States and accept nothing but gold in payment.

Most of the jewels, which included a priceless crown, have been recovered.

Quite a number of misdemeanor cases were tried or disposed of.

Motions for new trial in the Reaume case and in the Bar-Eco case were overruled.

The court appointed W. H. Cole, J. D. Battle and Solon Morgan jury commissioners to draw juries for the February, 1920, term of court.

JAPANESE GOVERNOR OF KOREA PROMISES NUMBER OF REFORMS

Fairness and Justice in Administration to Be Accompanied by a Measure of Firmness ... He Warns Natives ... Will Adopt Local Customs and Institutions Where Possible.

Seoul, Korea, October 30.—Governor General Baron Saito has issued a proclamation in which he promises reforms in Japanese administration of Korea and said he hoped to introduce local self-government at the proper opportunity. He said:

"I am determined to superintend the future and encourage officials under my control to put forth greater efforts to act in a fairer and juster way and promote the facilities of the people and the unhindered attainment of the people's desires by dispensing with all formalities.

"Full consideration will be given to the appointment and treatment of Koreans so as to secure the right man for the right place. What is worthy of adoption in Korean institutions and old customs will be adopted.

"If anybody is found guilty of unwarrantedly refractory language or action, misleading of popular minds, and impeding the maintenance of public peace, he will be met with relentless justice. May it be that the people at large will place reliance on all this."

SEVEN SCHOOLS GET STATE AID AS SOON AS THEY MEET RULE

Certain Improvements Necessary in Order to Bring Conditions Up to Standard Set By the Department Authorities in Education ... Brazos Not Obtaining Full Share.

The seven schools in Brazos county who asked for state aid obtained it "conditionally," according to a letter just received by County Superintendent W. L. Powers from the state department of education. If conditions are met this means that each of these schools is in line for $500 from the $2,000,000 state fund appropriated for the year for rural schools.

The conditions referred to are set out in the state law, and include such things as proper ventilation, proper lights and heating, provision for a small library, a local school tax of fifty cents on the hundred dollars valuation, and other improvements in school conditions.

The schools who applied and who expect to comply with the conditions are Kurten, Rock Prairie-Shiloh consolidated, Edge, Reliance, Tabor, Bowman and Wellborn.

Millican high school was too large a district to come under this provision of the law, but is receiving both state and federal aid under the Smith-Hughes act and has a special instructor in agriculture under whom students are doing work in actual farming along improved lines.

"There are numbers of schools in the county," said Superintendent Powers this morning, "who could have met these conditions of the state law and could have had this state aid, giving their children the very latest and best facilities at the expense of the state, if they would only do it.

"Delta county has 37 schools. Last year 35 out of those 37 got state aid. Brazos county has 73 schools, white and colored. Last year only 5 of our schools got state aid. In the mean time we are paying our pro rata into the state tax fund and Delta county is getting the money.

"In one of our school districts the school board has the money to meet the requirements and put everything into modern shape, but they won't do a thing. One of the trustees said they had a school that was better than they used to have and he was opposed to doing a single thing that they didn't have to do. And there you are."

It is now too late to apply for state aid for this year, but Mr. Powers is anxious that more schools get ready to obtain this aid next year.

ALLEGES GRAFT IN THE ARMY.

Columbus, October 30.—That government payrolls were padded and army officers in the quartermasters' construction corps were furnished liquor and valuable presents by contractors, was the testimony today of E. E. Heald, a former payroll auditor and bookkeeper for D. W. McGrath & Son, Columbus contractors, before the congressional subcommittee investigating graft charges in connection with the construction of Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, O.

GOVERNMENT TAKING MEASURE TO HANDLE U. S. COAL SUPPLIES

Railroad Administration Suggested as a Proper Means of Getting Practical Control Over Fuel Situation Resulting From United Mine Workers' Action.

Washington, October 30.—Government machinery is being set to-day to deal with the strike of the half million soft coal miners called for Saturday.

After a policy of patience, with the hope that the catastrophe could be averted, the agencies of government came to force, when the miners' organization at Indianapolis, by failing to withdraw the strike order, placed the country face to face with a fuel shortage.

Means of protecting the public and miners not in sympathy with the strike are provided under the government's program. Plans have been drawn for the revival of price control regulations, suspended when the fuel administration dissolved February 1, which give assurance against profiteering and may mean an early drop in coal prices.

CABINET ASSEMBLES.

Washington, October 30.—President Wilson's cabinet was called upon in special session this morning to make final plans for dealing with the strike of the bituminous miners Saturday. The call was issued by Secretary Lansing.

The revival of the fuel administration to deal with conditions growing out of the coal strike was unnecessary, Dr. Harry Garfield advised the cabinet holding that the wartime powers of that body were now vested in the railroad administration, which has full authority to distribute coal to essential industries.

Members of the cabinet said that if Garfield's suggestions were adopted it would obviate the necessity of asking congress for the money to reorganize the fuel administration.

An executive order restoring maximum price regulations on coal will be issued by President Wilson, probably today. The maximum has been determined upon, but has not been disclosed.

Secretary Lane announced that the government would not hesitate to curtail consumption of coal for industries fifty per cent. Curtailment lists used by the war industries board during the war would be used as a basis for the present situation he said.

Garfield appeared at the white house before the cabinet meeting put its final approval on plans to protect the public when the strike comes.

Director General Hines was summoned and given a detailed report of conditions confronting the railroad administration. The current coal supply from nonunion mines was sufficient to meet domestic demands and supply the railroads and public utilities it was said.

At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting, Attorney General Palmer announced that a fuel administrator would take control of handling coal and use his authority under the Lever act to take whatever steps were necessary to meet the situation.

CONFISCATION OF COAL NEXT.

Washington, October 30.—The railroad administration today ordered the confiscation of all coal in transit where necessary to obtain a reserve supply to keep the roads operating. In taking over such coal exemptions are to be made of coal destined to certain classes of consignees, based on the priority list established by the fuel administration.

INCREASE FIREMEN'S PAY.

Beaumont, October 30.—The city council has increased the pay for the firemen. None of them is to receive less than $100. The increase amounts to about $15 per month on an average. The council disposed of the matter in about five minutes, which is regarded as remarkable since it was a question over which there has been much talk recently.

314,892 MOTOR CARS.

Austin, October 30.—With the registrations for the week ending today total registrations of automobiles in Texas since the first of the year reached 314,892, and if the average of weekly registrations is maintained there is every reason to believe that the total registration of motor vehicles at the end of the year will be between 325,000 and 300,000. Transfers since January 1, 1919, total 54,207; chauffeurs, 23,614; motorcycles, 3,701; dealers, 3,074.

UNIONS STAND BY CONTRACT.

Youngstown, October 30.—The National strike committee at Pittsburgh has endorsed the stand taken by the Amalgamated Association of iron, steel and tin workers that contracts with steel plants made before the strike shall be held inviolate, and all Amalgamated men under such contract have been ordered to return to work, it was announced here.

INJUSTICE SOMEWHERE.

Over in the local jail there is a man who has been convicted of a heinous crime and sentenced to a long term in the penitentiary. The conviction came after a long trial in which, according to all accounts, every iota of legal energy and skill available was brought into play both by the state and by the defense. And when, after all this was done, the jury found the defendant guilty, he was allowed an appeal. That appeal has been pending for 18 weary months.

In a situation like this it would seem that a serious injustice is being done. This man is either guilty or innocent. Perhaps, in the face of the jury's verdict, and the pending appeal, it is best to leave to lawyers to figure out whether the presumption is in favor of guilt or innocence. But in either case the injustice, though not the same, is very grave.

If this man is innocent, it is a crime against freedom and justice that he should be made to drag out his existence in prison while his appeal drags its slow way along the docket of the appellate court. If he is guilty he should be in the penitentiary instead of the Bryan county jail.

It is not the business of the citizen in general to determine the guilt or innocence of this man. But it is the business of every citizen to become interested in the matter of prompt justice. Something has got to be done. It is bad enough for civil cases to crawl along through years and even decades. But when human liberty and the reputation of public justice are in the balance the case is infinitely more shameful.

If we are come to such a place that a man can deliberately commit a wrong and then by manipulating appeals and relying on the snail's pace of the mills of the law can escape the punishment designed for his crime, then we have come to the place for a new system of appellate procedure. Justice delayed is no longer justice, either to the upright or to the evil-doer.

BLACK'S IDEA.

Texas has a man in congress whose name is Black and Black has introduced an amendment to the pending railroad control act under which it is unlawful for two or more persons to conspire with the intent substantially to hinder the movement of commodities or persons over the systems of transportation under federal control.

It is perfectly lawful for a railway employe to quit his job when and where he pleases, under Black's amendment, but there is absolute prohibition of his entering into agreements designed to get a large number of workmen to quit at one time with the intent to tie up traffic.

If all the air plane pilots in America were to go on a strike tomorrow the jar to the world would not be appreciable. But by the time another fifty years rolls around there may be quite another story to that supposition. When the time comes that the public gets its milk and beefsteak and morning mail by airplane then the question of a strike of sky chauffeurs will become a public question.

The railroad magnates used to act as if they owned the railroad. Some of them were quite profane in their indications of destinations which the public might seek if said public disliked the way the roads were being run. Federal attorneys and commissions and tax gatherers have reduced the magnates to a more or less pitiable stage akin to that of a man who has an investment in Mexico.

But if the ability to put freight service almost out of the reach of the public through arbitrarily high rates is against public policy and therefore wrong, is not the ability to put that service both almost and altogether out of the public reach through the arbitrary power to strike also against public policy and therefore wrong? Has the country got to a state of economic dependence upon transportation where it is vitally true that the railroads have got to be kept running no matter what else happens? Have two million men or four million men or any number of million men the right to make many times their number starve or shiver while they settle with a still smaller group a money difference which is an infinitesimal fraction of the loss they cause to the innocent majority?

These are questions that are uppermost in the minds of a great many people. There are still a great many people who have a measure for the value of a day's work other than all they can possibly squeeze out of a position by threat and violence. There are still numbers of people in this country that are willing to do at least a certain amount of real work for a living.

After these people have done their honest work and have accepted in peace and satisfaction their honest wages they naturally expect to be able to get coal when it's cold and have it hauled over railroads without its being held up by a strike. The fact that the miner or the railroad man has a grievance is not going to put coal in Mr. Average Man's stove, nor bacon into his skillet. It will be a hard lesson to the miner and the railroad man to learn that that stove and that skillet of Mr. Average Man are really the sources of the wages of railroad and miner.

Railroaders and miners they get their money out of the properties on which they work. If they think that, let them put a circular railroad in the midst of the desert of Sahara and railroad two hours or twenty-four every day and see how large their pay checks grow. Let them plumb pay until the plumbing in the boiler blows out. Let them collectively bargain until they have bargained themselves into anything they like. Or, if they prefer mining, let them mole their ways down the longest and thickest vein of coal in North America, piling the product of their labor at the mouth of the mine, with never a pound for Mr. Average Man. Then where would they be?

Even a bolshevik ought to know the answer. Some of these days Mr. Average Man is going to wake up to the answer. When he does there will follow some collective regulating and some collective common sense. As things are now American industry seems to be in need of a good deal of both.

TEXAS MUST HAVE HER FIUME.

Texas has her Fiume. All that is lacking is a bald headed poet and a picked-up army of adventurers with garlic and spaghetti to complete the picture.

The circumstances are these. There is a strip of land on the south bank of Red river. It is inhabited by people who speak Texan. But Oklahomans have taken over jurisdiction of the land and are patrolling it with armed guards.

Where is our d'Aunzio to go in and possess the land? So far as can be made out Jud Lewis fills the bill as nearly as anybody can. He is a poet. He is bald headed. True he is not addicted to garlic and light wines, but he believes in pink buttercup, and that ought to serve something of the same purpose.

Shall the aspirations of Texas go unheeded? John Hornsby of Austin went up to the disputed territory, now languishing under the cruel and unsympathetic heel of Oklahoma, and demanded possession in the name and by the authority of the state of Texas. Those Oklahomans shoed him out of the way as if he had been a bantam rooster.

Let them beware! Behind our dashing Jud we will go up against these Oklahoma tyrants and release our poor compatriots of Texas writhing under nameless threats. Behind his brave and shining pate we will marshal the loyal sons of freedom and free our brothers.

True, there is the minor question of possession of the sites of the Burk-Bet oil wells which, remarkable to remark, happen to be on the very tract of land in dispute between Texas and Oklahoma. Further than these cognomers the territory has no name. So it's "Burk-Senator or Death!" Or else the poetic leader of our aspirations, should he accept our nomination, might put it "Burk-Bet, You Bet!" Forward with Jud and Liberty! Viva Lewis and Crue Oil!

PROHIBITION LAW IS DRASTIC BUT CANNOT HARM PRIVATE STOCK

Passage Over Veto Gives Officials Power to Act at Once.

Washington, October 29.—Armed with the drastic provisions of the prohibition enforcement act which became effective as to wartime prohibition with the passage by the senate of the measure over the president's veto yesterday, revenue agents today took up the task of making absolute the ban on the manufacture and sale of liquor.

The few remaining saloons in the United States were legally open today for the sale only of beverages containing less than one half of one per cent alcohol.

Despite the drastic provisions of the law they could not touch a man who stored a supply in his own home for his own use.

YOUNG GIRL ON TOP FREIGHT CAR TAKES SUPPLIES TO SICK

Kentucky Heroine in Bringing Aid Undergoes Exposure.

Craiova, Rumania, October 29.—Riding on the roof of a box car through 150 miles of Rumanian mountains, Miss Georgia Watts of Lexington, Ky., carried a consignment of much-needed medicines and surgical supplies from Bucharest to the American Red Cross hospital here. The outbreak of a sudden epidemic of typhus demanded the immediate receipt of certain supplies which could only be obtained from the American warehouses in Bucharest. Miss Watts offered to make the trip. There was not an inch of space left in any one of the freight cars. Miss Watts, who had carefully packed her supplies in small cases with an eye to some such contingency, obtained the consent of the station master, the crates of medicines were tied to the roof of a box car and Miss Watts mounted to a place beside them, where she clung as the train climbed tortuously up a crooked mountain trail, across many bridges and through numerous tunnels. She arrived safe and sound at her destination with her precious freight.

COLONIAL NOW UNDER BOYETT MANAGEMENT AS RESULT OF TRADE

Mr. and Mrs. M. Derden Chance Lease Local Theater.

The Colonial theater has passed into the hands of Guy and Norman Boyett, having been leased from Mr. and Mrs. M. Derden Chance who have been conducting the establishment for the past two or three years. Norman Boyett, formerly of Bryan, and at one time with the Colonial himself, is now at Brownwood, where he is engaged in the picture house business and is meeting with success. Guy Boyett announced this morning that he will open the house to the public Monday, November 3, with the best pictures obtainable. On November 8 will come the well known light opera, "Polly Ann."

The Colonial is now closed for repairs and overhauling generally in order to fit it up in first class condition, it was said.

LARGE FAMILIES COMMON.

Paris, October 29.—If the flood of letters which is daily reaching the trustees of the fifty million franc fund given by M. Cognac, to be distributed in lots of 25,000 francs to families consisting of more than nine children, is to be taken as a criterion, then depopulation in France is not as bad as it has been reported. Among the candidates to the fund is a mother who boasts of twenty-one children, born of the same wedlock. More than two thousand letters from parents claiming a progeny of more than nine children have been received.

FREAK WEATHER COMES.

Fort McMurray, Alberta, October 28.—Northern Alberta has received a touch of the freak weather which has visited Yukon territory this autumn. Winter weather came almost overnight and all of the lakes and streams in this region are frozen. Unlike the Yukon, lightning thaws and secondary freezes did not follow. October 14 marked the close of navigation here. Since then the power boat Netraco crashed through Lake Athabasca and made a safe landing after a hard trip. The party consisted of 22 passengers, most surveyors and geologists.

FORGED MONEY ORDERS.

Fort Worth, October 29.—Dallas, Fort Worth, Ranger and Sweetwater merchants lost a thousand dollars through forged money orders recently, according to federal authorities, who have arrested a suspect at Ranger. Money order blanks were stolen from a postoffice in Oklahoma and the stamps were forged.

BRAZOS COUNTY RED CROSS MEETING WAS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Reports Received of Accomplishment for the Year Past—Accounts of Secretary Found to Be in Excellent Condition—Band Renders Excellent Music—Many Present.

The second annual public meeting of the Brazos County Red Cross, held last night at Bryan tabernacle, was "one of the most delightful and inspiring occasions ever given in this city," as a Red Cross worker put it today.

A spirit of patriotism and loyalty to the Red Cross, made the hour one of pleasure and profit, and the educational program gave to the audience a vision of the work of the organization, which has meant so much during war. That the Red Cross is indeed "the Greatest Mother in the World," was brought vividly to the minds of those who listened to the reports of the officers of the local chapter, as given for the year just closed.

E. H. Astin, chairman of the Brazos county chapter, who has served the organization so faithfully for the past year and a half, was present and presided.

Mrs. Albert Buchanan, secretary since the chapter's organization in June, 1917, gave a most excellent report of the various activities of the Brazos county chapter, the report dating from November 1, 1918, which was the date of the last public report. Mrs. Buchanan handled more than $10,000 during the year.

The Junior Red Cross was represented in an attractive drill by the children in Red Cross costume, and Miss Ray Montgomery, the efficient secretary of the Junior Red Cross, gave a resume of the work that has been accomplished by the children.

The Third Red Cross Roll Call, which takes place all over the United States from November 2 to November 11, was emphasized in an enthusiastic talk by the roll call director, Charles B. Hudson.

The local chapter has one organized branch at College Station, of which it is very proud, and Mrs. M. Francis made the yearly report of that organization, instead of the branch chairman, Mrs. J. C. Nagle, who was suffering with a sore throat and could not talk.

Dr. W. B. Bizzell was the speaker of the evening, and outlined the future work of the Red Cross, as it is launching into a program of wonderful activities under its peace program. Having recently returned from Washington, where in a conference at national Red Cross headquarters he had opportunity to catch a vision of the scope of Red Cross work as it covers the world and seeks by means and measures to benefit mankind in its every endeavor, Dr. Bizzell spoke with fervor and earnestness as he impressed upon his hearers the fact that it is not only the duty, but the privilege of every man, woman and child to have a part in this work.

The annual election of members of an executive board to direct the affairs of the Brazos county chapter for the coming year was completed when H. O. Boatwright, chairman of the nominating committee, read the list of names previously nominated, as follows: E. H. Astin, W. C. Lawson, John A. Moore, Mrs. M. B. Parker, Mrs. Tyler Haswell, Rev. J. D. Gleissner, Mrs. A. J. Buchanan, of Bryan; Ike Ashburn, Mrs. W. B. Bizzell, College Station; Mrs. M. B. Easters, Kurten; Mrs. I. M. Cook, Steep Hollow; E. U. Peters, Harvey; Mrs. George F. Lee, Wellborn; Mrs. J. D. Battle, Millican; T. W. Beard, Edger; J. C. Cloud, Reliance; John Kosarek, Riverside; Miss Mary Locke, Tabor.

After the list was read a motion was carried that the above named board be unanimously elected to serve during the coming year.

Mrs. E. P. Arneson gave Van Dyke's "Gold Stars", in a most impressive way, and two vocal quartets by local talent, added another enjoyable feature to the program.

No patriotic meeting can be a success without the inspiring strains of a brass band, and the Bryan Concert band added just that touch to the annual meeting of the Red Cross, and the thanks of the audience was given in many rounds of applause.

Punch and sandwiches were served from decorated refreshment tables in the side rooms of the tabernacle, during the informal reception to the Brazos county soldier and sailor boys, which followed the program.

The auditing committee appointed to go over the accounts of the chapter secretary found every thing in exemplary shape and every item in the $10,000 handled accounted for by voucher. The committee complimented Mrs. Buchanan on the manner in which she had conducted the affairs of the chapter.

The following extracts from the report of the chapter secretary will be of interest to the public:

The service section showed that through that department 693 families had been aided, 3421 letters written, and financial help given to the amount of $1,225.84.

Delayed allotment of soldiers and sailors secured, 414; Liberty bonds obtained, 213; war risk insurance policies adjusted, 310; relatives located, 83; baggage identified and secured, 14.

MENDOLA RELATIVES FROM OTHER CITIES TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Last Rites Performed Over Remains of Man Found Dead in Home With Bullet Hole in His Head—Coroner Unwilling to Say Any More Than That No Fault Play Indicated.

That Lawrence Mendola "came to his death by a gunshot wound through the head," was the verdict of Justice of the Peace J. W. Hamilton following his examination of the scene of the tragedy yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hamilton refused to add to this statement this morning when asked to go further, except that he indicated that he did not wish to be taken as implying that there had been any foul play.

In other words, there seems to be doubt as to whether Mr. Mendola killed himself accidentally or purposely. According to evidence submitted to Justice Hamilton, Mr. Mendola had been keeping his pistol under his pillow, as there had been a disturbance several nights previous which was supposed by him to be an attempt by burglars to enter the house. The evidence further showed that Mendola had gotten up from the table at dinner with the statement that he was going to take a nap in the next room. The body was found on the bed with a hole through the head near the ears. The pistol was found close by.

Arrangements have been made for the funeral at St. Joseph's at 4 p. m. today with interment at the City cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Duiffre, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fickerson, of Houston, and Alex J. Burkmeier, of Houston, are among out-of-town relatives who are here to attend the funeral.

ITALY IS CONCERNED.

Paris, October 29.—Rome dispatches indicate considerable concern caused there by the report that the United States would refuse to accede to the proposals of Italy regarding the Adriatic problem. In Italian circles here it is indicated that here also there is the impression that the United States will refuse to agree to the Italian plan.

TRYING DAYS FOR MASONS IN LISBON DURING 1918

While Monarchists Were in Power Persecution of Members Was Systematic and Continuous
--- Army Man Honored.

Washington, October 29. — Capt. Henri Armand de Masi, who has just been discharged from the United States army after two years in the service, in which time he spent 15 months in Portugal as assistant military attaché of the American legation in Lisbon, brought an interesting report of Masonic activities in Portugal to those attending the biennial meeting of the supreme council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry for the southern jurisdiction of the United States, in Washington the past week.

Captain de Masi, for 14 years a newspaper man in Chicago, Illinois, and other cities before entering the army, while in Portugal he was made a Knight of the Order of Christ, and Knight of the Military Order of Avis, by the Portuguese government. For aid he rendered to Portuguese Masons during the revolution in that country last winter, he was made an active member of the Supreme Council, Thirty-Third Degree Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry of Portugal, and given honorary membership in every other Masonic lodge in Lisbon. Mrs. de Masi and their child were with him there.

Exceptional Opportunities.

As a military observer of the revolution for the United States government, Captain de Masi had exceptional opportunities to learn the facts. He reached Lisbon March 31, 1918, and President Sidonio Paes was assassinated on December 14, 1918. Preceding this deed, the Masonic temple in Lisbon was wrecked by persons not yet individually identified. The official censorship, he says, did not permit any mention of the incident in press and he learned of it by a chance visit in search of Dr. Sebastiao de Magalhaes Lima, grand commander of the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite in Portugal.

"On the floor of the rooms," Captain de Masi said, "lay British, French, Italian, and the Portuguese Republican flags. It was significant that the United States flag had not been touched. Papers, documents, rituals, and Masonic paraphernalia of every description were scattered over the hallway, and the furniture had been wantonly smashed. Paintings and rare photographs were ruined, including a life-size painting of King Edward VII in full regalia of Grand Master of all the lodges in England.

When Captain de Masi found Dr. Magalhaes Lima, he said he was told that in expectation of such an attack upon the temple, all the important Masonic records and documents had been removed. Captain de Masi later took charge of them and kept them in safety until the Monarchist revolution had been suppressed, when the Masons began to rebuild the temple.

Masons Persecuted.

While the Monarchists were in power, and wherever they exercised authority, Captain de Masi said Masons were persecuted. It was for his

HOPE NOW FELT THAT COAL STRIKE MAY BE DEFERRED BY MINERS

Lewis Summons Meeting of Committeemen Representing Union, But Declares Strike Order Still Stands --- West Virginia Mine Said to Have Been Blown Up --- Reports Conflict.

Washington, October 28.—Hope is expressed in official quarters today that the soft coal strike set for Saturday will be postponed, if not called off.

Announcement that John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, had summoned members of the full scale committee to meet at Indianapolis tomorrow is accepted as an indication that President Wilson's command to the miners' organization not to plunge the country into industrial chaos might be heeded.

In the full belief that officers of the international union who ordered the strike have full power to stop it, government officials awaited the next step, which must come from the miners.

Confidential reports from the central coal field territory indicated, it was said, that not all of the half million miners would quit work.

Steps to be taken by the government to deal with the strike will be considered finally today at the cabinet meeting. Meanwhile the railroad administration continued its efforts to expedite the movement of coal from the mines by ordering all coal not unloaded within twenty-four hours to be dumped on the ground to release cars for immediate return to the field.

SUMMONS COMMITTEEMEN.
Springfield, Ill., October 28.—Confronted by the demand of President Wilson that the strike call which would stop production of soft coal in the United States be rescinded, John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, last night by telegraph invited twenty-five district presidents of coal-producing states and members of the miners' scale committee to meet with the international executive board at 10 a. m. Wednesday to confront the strike issue.

Preparing to leave for Indianapolis to assume charge of the threatened strike of soft coal miners, beginning Friday at midnight, John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the strike order was still in effect and that the 500,000 miners in the bituminous fields would walk out to a man unless the operators make concessions.

"The statement of President Wilson opposing the strike has thus far had no results, so far as we are concerned," Mr. Lewis said. No word reached him, he stated, from government sources during the day. At Indianapolis he will make preparations for the meeting Wednesday of the international executive board. He said last night he expected no developments prior to this conference.

Branding statements that coal miners were earning $10 or $15 a day as "absurd," Mr. Lewis said the average pay of miners in the bituminous fields for the year 1918, which he declared was the best twelve months in mine workers' annals, was $1,228 a year. He declined to make a statement as to what the maximum earnings of a miner under favorable circumstances may be, but said the earnings of "day men" amounted to between $4.20 and $5 a day. These include track layers, drivers, mechanics and laborers. Coal diggers, he admitted, can make more money than that. He explained, however, that wages of miners were curtailed by the fact that mines operate on the average only three or four days a week.

This condition, he said, made necessary a shorter day and week, in order to furnish continuous employment, as embraced in wage demands suggested by miners early in the conference.

MINE SAID TO BE BLOWN UP.
Winchester, W. Va., October 28.—Governor Cornwall of West Virginia, who was visiting his brother here left hurriedly today for Charleston, after receiving a message that a coal mine in Raleigh county had been blown up and that the situation there was serious. The governor said that the message gave no details.

HEAR MACHINERY DESTROYED.
Charleston, W. Va., October 28.—The department of mines here had no information concerning the blowing up of a mine in Raleigh county, but did have a report that some of the mining machinery at Pemberton was destroyed between Saturday night and Monday morning.

GERMANY'S HEAVY HAND STILL ON FRIENDLY DON

Recent Events Show Berlin Continues to Exercise Great Power on Peninsular --- Funds Disappear.

Madrid, October 29.—Recent events have been showing how heavily lies the hand of Germany on friendly Spain, even now when it was imagined in some quarters that the intrigues of the central powers were suspended for the time being. It has been shown what a power and influence, not for the general good, Berlin is still in the peninsula, and that there are constantly afoot machinations of a dangerous kind. People are now asking in increasing numbers what it is that ties Spain so much to Germany. Sometimes, both for reason of justice and having regard to the confidence of other nations, circumstances seem to call for serious investigations into matters in which Germany appears to be implicated, yet Spain seems afraid to make them, and excuses herself.

Two cases of this kind are on hand at the present moment, or rather were, for it seems the settled disposition of the authorities to shelve them, despite vigorous protests that have been made. Only the very briefest information, with essential facts suppressed, has been telegraphed to other countries. The foreign office in Madrid is associated with both affairs.

Misgivings Regarding Germany.
If the Prince de Ratibor, the famous Ambassador of Machiavellian machinations, has gone back to Berlin, where Spain insisted he must go, something of his influence remains, and it is being related that the foreign minister, the Marquis de Lema, has recently had a long and earnest conversation with the German charge d'affaires in which he expressed to him in the plainest terms his misgivings with regard to Germany's methods of conducting her affairs in Spain, which, he declared, were seriously prejudicial to the latter.

One of the cases referred to is that of defalcation in the funds of the foreign office to the extent of nearly 500,000 pesetas, the culprit being a certain Pedro Miranda, a man who held an appointment as second class secretary of an embassy, and who was attached to the colonial section of the ministry. The circumstances are remarkable. It had been apparent for a long time that Miranda was living far beyond his means. At the ministry he had a salary of 7500 pesetas a year, and no private income. He lived in the Calle de Serrano with his mother, who was very solicitous about the way he was living, and some weeks ago went to Gonzalez Hontoria, the latter then being the foreign minister, and asked him if it were possible to remove her son to some foreign embassy.

Transfer Arranged.

The foreign minister was sympathetic and, having a good opinion of the ability of Miranda and his capacity for work, not only arranged to transfer him but to promote him at the same time he was appointed first secretary to the Spanish embassy at Vienna. But when Miranda was told of this appointment he protested most vigorously, declaring that he did not wish to leave Madrid and that rather than do so he would renounce any claims he might have as regards promotion. This appointment to Vienna was allowed to lapse, but subsequently, Miranda's mother evidently having again petitioned, the foreign minister informed her that her son had been appointed first secretary to the embassy at Berlin, and that he would not be permitted to refuse the appointment nor would any objections on his part be listened to.

The time came recently for him to make his preparations for departure, and a successor was appointed to fulfill his duties in the colonial department of the foreign ministry at Madrid. One of the chief of those duties was to keep the accounts in connection with the German refugees from the Kameruns, interned in Spain, and to pay out all sums including expenses and wages in connection with this internment, which has been a big affair.

Successor Takes Up Duties.

When Miranda's successor came to take up his new duties, it was found that in the Banco de Espana instead of a sum of 500,000 pesetas there were only some 30,000 or 40,000 pesetas. When they went afterwards to look for Miranda he had vanished!

The case was perplexing. Two most troublesome aspects of it were presented. In the first place there was the prestige of the diplomatic service to be considered; in the second there were Spain's diplomatic relations and confidence with foreign powers, and the evident fact that this Miranda was closely acquainted with them. Upon the former point the colleagues of the fugitive felt very keenly and formed a great scheme for keeping the matter out of the hands of the police or the law courts by themselves subscribing the total amount of the missing funds, but when they found that this would entail a subscription of 5000 pesetas each, they abandoned the projects as too much for them.

Action Delayed.

Facts of the case were in due course communicated to the police, but they delayed action, as they were quite expected to do, considering the nature of the case and the extreme desirability that nothing should be done. And while nothing was being done, and it was being mentioned here and there that it would be most unfortunate if any proceedings were taken, seeing what Spain's relations were with foreign countries, and that it would be perfectly easy for Miranda to leave the country in such circumstances, he slipped away. Where he is now apparently nobody knows.

He was last seen in a carriage at Bilbao, but the case is dropping out of the newspapers and would drop out of memory also were it not that various persons who consider that Spain prejudices herself by such business make a point of reviving it, and asking the inconvenient question as to where Miranda is and what is going to be done with him. The obvious reply, which if cynical is yet perhaps correct, is that Berlin must be applied to for all such information.

LONDON SHUNS SKYSCRAPER

American Architects Get No Encouragement to Extend Building to Great Height.

London.—The old question of whether or not London is to have skyscrapers is being revived because of the high price of property in the business section and the lack of space in office buildings. Generally speaking, London does not like tall buildings. Percy Tubbs, president of the Society of Architects, declared that if the skyscraper was to come it would be necessary to widen the streets.

"Space in London, however, is not so scarce as it is in New York, which is an island," he said.

American architects who are here erecting a huge apartment store have repeatedly asked permission to extend the main building high enough to accommodate not only the present business of the concern, but to provide for the future, and have met with no encouragement.

Corns Come Off Like Banana Peel

"Get-It" Leaves Toe Smooth As Your Palm. Never Falls.

Ever peel off a banana skin? Well, that's the way "Get-It" peels off any corn or callus. It's a picnic. Nothing else in the world will do it.

"2 Drops of 'Get-It,' Good-bye Corns!"
But "Get-It" is because of the new secret principle in the "Get-It" formula. "Get-It" does away forever with "contraptions," "wrappy" plasters, ointments that rub off, blood-letting knives, and scissors that snip into the "quick." "Get-It" cases pain. It takes but a second or two to use "Get-It." There's no fussing or trouble. It dries immediately. You put your stocking right back on again. Your corn will come off painlessly in one complete piece. That's common sense. It never fails. "Get-It" is the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

EXCESSIVE RAINS IN COUNTY CAUSE GREAT ROAD DETERIORATION

County Judge Estimates $75,000 Needed Now to Provide Ample Facilities for Drainage and Repair the Bad Places in Highways in Road District No. 1 Immediately.

Excessive rains during the last year have damaged the highway system of Brazos county to an enormous amount, according to Judge J. T. Maloney in a statement made this morning to the directors of the commercial club.

The unusual amount of wet weather has rendered the drainage facilities in many places wholly inadequate, he declared, and it will be necessary at a number of points to replace culverts and make entirely new arrangements for the disposal of surplus water.

Judge Maloney mentioned a number of portions of road which will have to be reconstructed as the result of erosion. "We have not hauled any gravel for a considerable length of time," said Judge Maloney, speaking for the commissioners court, "and in fact the roads have been so bad that we have not been able to get down into the gravel pits and out again so we could haul any."

The club discussed informally the information conveyed by the highway committee to the effect that Grimes county citizens were anxious to locate a suitable crossing over the Navasota river, so that they can go ahead with a bond election which is contemplated in that county. Persons representing Grimes county were conferring with the local highway committee Monday, Chairman M. E. Wallace said, relative to the matter. No formal action was taken by the club, but the sentiment appeared to be that the county engineer would be best able to determine the proper location for any new crossing that might be selected.

November 11 was recommended to the merchants as a proper holiday, and the club suggested that stores be closed on that day.

The attorney general's department at Austin has approved the city's $75,000 bond issue in connection with the purchase by the municipality of the electric utilities from the Bryan Power company, according to an announcement at the city hall this morning.

The contract for printing the bonds was let in Austin, and as soon as they are finished the deal for the light plant will be completed. Seventy thousand dollars of the issue goes to the Lawlors in payment for the plant. Upon the completion of the trade the city will take over the entire management of the water and light service in Bryan and will carry out a number of improvements designed to permit the service to be extended to keep pace with the growth of the city.

MEASURES NEEDED TO KILL INSECTS YIELD PROFIT IN BIG CROP

Good Farming Methods Require Precisely the Same Preparation of Soil as That Used to Stamp Out Worms and Weevils — Experts on Matter Tells How It's Done.

The county agent is sending out a circular letter urging farmers to take means to prevent the recurrence next season of the insect pest of this fall. The circular, which is published by experts at A. and M. college, is in part as follows:

There are certain things to be avoided this coming year. Among them are repetitions of serious outbreaks of boll weevil, boll worms, cotton leaf worms, cabbage worms, army worms, grasshoppers, wingless may-beetles, etc.

Insect control is generally looked upon as an added expense and a measure simply to put an end to the ravages of the pests after they have once started to do damage. This is an erroneous idea. The biggest and most important part of insect control begins in the fall and, contrary to the usual belief, it is money in your pocket. Good farming demands exactly the same measures during the fall, winter and early spring that are essential to insect control and vice versa. The biggest single factor in insect control must be started at this time of year. This measure is a clean-up campaign on your farm. If it can be extended to your neighbor's farm it will be that more effective. The efficiency of the measures increase in proportion to the extent to which it is applied.

The following measures recommended by the agronomist of the extension service as a means to better crops are almost identical with those recommended by the entomologist for insect control.

The total yield depends upon the amount of plant food available in the soil and sufficient water to keep this plant food in solution. To make this plant food available and to store up the necessary amount of water over most sections, the land should be plowed deep in the early fall. (This of course does not apply to low sand sections).

1.—Prevents many weeds from seeding in the fall, thus lowering the labor cost of production.

2.—Rots vegetation which increases the water-holding capacity of the soil and tends to loosen it.

3.—Land may be plowed deeper than in the spring. This increases the amount of water that can be stored in the soil and increases the feeding depth of the plants.

4.—The action of the atmosphere during the winter breaks the soil into small particles, thus making plant food more available and increasing the water storage capacity.

5.—Destroys insects. Most of the injurious insects that pass the winter in the ground or in the vegetation on the surface will be destroyed. If the soil is loose, those in the ground will be killed by the winter weather. Those in the vegetation will be buried or burned so that they cannot emerge in the spring and produce young.

6.—Fall plowed land allows more circulation of air and as a result warms up earlier in the spring and gives the young plant a better start. Fighting insects on the growing crops is the most expensive of all control measures. In fact, it is not a control measure, but an emergency measure to attempt the salvage of part of the crop. Fall and winter clean-up and cultural measures are the greatest control methods shown today. They are also the cheapest and can only result in better crops. Many farmers do not think of this kind of work in this connection, but feel that nothing can be done to control insects until they have broken out in large numbers on the growing crops. Then he will have to apply the expensive emergency measures and add to this outlay the loss in yield that otherwise might have been saved.

Fall plowing and working the land in early spring, an effective campaign against weeds and remnants of old crops, and a clean-up of all fence rows and corners will do wonders for your next crops. All insects can be largely controlled by these measures alone. The hibernating places and pupae are destroyed and the numbers of insects living over winter are so reduced that the crops are able to get a good start in the spring. Weeds and remnants of crops must be either burned entirely or plowed under deeply. Raking into a pile and leaving them is a waste of time. In short, "A stitch in time saves nine." In addition to this your crops are given every possible advantage and a strong, healthy plant not only yields more, but has much more resistance to insect and disease injury.

This kind of insect control demands no outlay of money. It will make better crops and reduce the amount of damage by insects after the crops have begun their growth. With everything in favor of these methods and nothing against them, why not work them out this year and benefit by the results?

Even if there were no insects this plan would still pay big dividends.

LAWRENCE MENDOLA DEAD AT HIS HOME SHOT THROUGH HEAD

Deceased Found on Bed With Pistol on Floor Close By — Wife Prostrated by Nervous Shock — Coroner Sent for to Inquire Into Cause of Tragedy — Had Many Friends.

Lawrence Mendola, aged fifty, died shortly after dinner today as the result of a bullet through his brain fired from a pistol at his home on the corner of 23rd and Robinson at about 12:50.

Mrs. Mendola and Tommie Gallatin, 21-year-old nephew of the deceased, were in the house at the time the shot was fired.

David Reid, who was notified soon after the occurrence of the tragedy, found the body on the bed in the northeast room in the house, with a 41-calibre Colt lying on the floor. The bullet had passed through the head back of the ears.

Physicians were called, but the wounded man died soon after the shot. Mrs. Mendola was stricken with nervous shock and was not in a condition to make any statement when the reporter arrived.

Mr. Mendola was employed as salesman in the grocery store of David Reid, and had gone home for dinner, taking the truck of the store to make the trip, he and Gallatin riding off together. It is understood that Mendola got up from the table while eating and went into the room where he met his death, the sound of the pistol's discharge coming soon after.

Mr. Mendola has resided in Bryan for a number of years and was known as a steady, business-like man, and had many friends. His conduct at the store this morning was in no way out of the ordinary, and Mr. Reid, Father J. B. Gleissner and others who had been called in were at a loss to explain the affair.

A coroner was sent for at once, and pending his decision, members of the family preferred to make no statement.

Mrs. Kate Foster, sister of the deceased, arrived shortly after the death of the latter. Other sisters of the dead man are Mrs. Pickerson, of Houston, and Mrs. Giffure, of Dallas.

Mr. Mendola was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

ROLL CALL FOR RED CROSS IS NOW BEING PLANNED FOR COUNTY

Everybody Be Given Chance to Join With Money Secondary.

From the opportunities and responsibilities of war to the opportunities and responsibilities of peace, no less greater than those of war, the Red Cross, the "Greatest Mother of All," is turning its attention. Initial steps for work on a peace time basis were taken Thursday by the Brazos County Red Cross auxiliaries. At that time the third annual roll call for members was begun.

Plans for the roll call in Brazos county have been worked out by the executive committee and will be directed by Charles B. Hudson, a Bryan man who saw service overseas.

"This roll call is for membership primarily and not for dollars," said Mr. Hudson in discussing the plans for the county campaign. "Every person in Brazos county will be given an opportunity to join a Red Cross organization. Even the children will be enrolled in the Junior Red Cross."

"The Red Cross is 100 per cent pure Americanism. The ideals, the spirit of liberality and self-sacrifice of America finds no more worthy exponent than the Red Cross. Its ramifications have extended around the world. In the disorder of war it maintained a perfectly balanced organization. Its service was so great as to be essential to the winning of the war."

"But while its war time activities were productive of marvelous results, its peace time operations should know no bounds."

"At Corpus Christi our dollars helped. Clothing and food and other essentials to human life were given by the Red Cross. In every crisis in this nation a softening influence to alleviate human pain and suffering and satisfy human needs will be exerted by the Red Cross."

"Every person will be given an opportunity to join. He who fails, neglects an opportunity and responsibility typically American, and which is the privilege of every good citizen."

BRAZIL FAVORS U. S. OVERWHELMINGLY IN FOREIGN COMMERCE

America Bests Britain Both in Imports and Exports.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, October 30.—Imports into Brazil from the United States in the first six months of 1919 were four times greater than those from Great Britain, the nearest competing country, according to the American chamber of commerce for Brazil.

Total imports were $168,746,750. Of this amount, $89,727,250 came from the United States and $22,983,250 from Great Britain.

Brazil's exports for the same period totaled $271,304,000, of which the United States took products valued at $93,890,250. France was the next heaviest purchaser, with $77,161,250, while Great Britain was third, with $21,556,500.

Coffee was by far the most important product contributing to the favorable trade balance of over $100,000,000 as 7,425,000 bags valued at $164,980,250 were exported.

You Are Not "Good Pay"

Unless You Pay Promptly

Some folks flatter themselves that they are "good pay" because they always pay something on account every month, although they never quite clear it off.

Possibly such folks are not themselves entirely to blame. It may be that the merchant did not need the money and really wanted the customer to consider himself under obligations to the firm.

Yet in the banking business the banker doesn't need the money, but he likes to see the borrower come in and take up his notes the day they are due. The banker likes to feel that the borrower can pay out on occasion.

The modern store has a credit manager. Upon his judgment the prosperity of the store depends. It is his duty to extend credit to all who ask for it, if they are worthy of credit. There was a time when only the "rich" could obtain credit, but the modern credit manager has changed this. He reasons that any one who pays promptly is entitled to the accommodation and that slow paying customers, regardless of their social, political or financial standing, are a nuisance.

So there developed two classes of individuals who had credit at retail stores: Those who paid promptly when the bill was due, and those who seemed to feel that they might pay when they pleased. Then came the war with economic problems. Merchandise stocks required greater capital on account of increased cost. Manufacturers and wholesale distributors shortened their terms. The merchant had all his surplus tied up in slow-paying accounts—the opportunity came to buy Liberty Bonds, to contribute to war chests.

Immediately credit managers began to insist that slow-pay customers quicken their pace. This movement swept over the country and enabled merchants to do their share in war subscriptions. It has reached Bryan now and a new order of things exists.

Prompt payment of all accounts is now required. October purchases should have been paid for not later than the tenth of this month unless special arrangements were made at the time of the purchase. Give yourself the name of being "Prompt Pay." The only way you can do so is by paying promptly, and it is the only way you can keep your credit good in Bryan.
